

American Intellectual Property Law Education Foundation

promoting diversity in intellectual property law

On behalf of the American Intellectual Property Law Education Foundation (AIPLEF), the Intellectual Property Law Section of the American Bar Association (ABA-IPL), the American Intellectual Property Law Association (AIPLA), and the Past Presidents of AIPLA, we are pleased to invite your institution to nominate a law student who has excelled in the study of intellectual property law. The 2016 Jan Jancin Competition offers two awards, as follows:

The first award is the time honored and prestigious Jan Jancin Award, which includes a cash award of $5,000. The late Jan Jancin served not only as President of AIPLA and Chair of the ABA-IPL Section, but served with distinction in other leadership roles in other intellectual property law associations, nationally and internationally. Students IP law and growth in quality IP law education were keen interests of Mr. Jancin. Additionally, he was a persistent and perceptive observer of the legislative process as it related to all aspects IP law, and regularly reported to several IP law associations on those activities. The ABA-IPL Section, AIPLA and AIPLEF are pleased to continue the tradition of honoring an outstanding IP law student each year in the name of Jan Jancin.

The second award, the AIPLA Past President's Award for 2017, has been established by the Past Presidents of AIPLA. The winner will receive up to a maximum cash award of $2,500, and will be invited to attend the 2016 AIPLA Annual Meeting in October. If unable to attend, the award will be mailed to the winner. The recipients of the AIPLA Past Presidents Award for the last three years have received $2,500.

Accordingly, we request that you submit one nomination of a law student enrolled in your institution in the year 2017 (including year 2017 graduation candidates) that has exemplified excellence in intellectual property academic studies, is interested in pursuing a career in intellectual property law, and may have participated as a leader in intellectual property-related student activities for consideration. Below is an explanation of exemplary criteria for nominees for the award.

Please note: Only ONE nomination and recommendation letter from each school will be accepted. The nomination should be no more than two pages and must be completed by a member of the faculty who has a direct knowledge of the student's work.

Please submit a nomination in the form of a letter of recommendation on Law School letterhead, enclosing a one-page written summation of the achievements from the nominee along with all items listed in the exemplary criteria including student's application summary.

To be considered, nominations must be received by no later than May 27, 2017, addressed to:

AMERICAN INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY LAW EDUCATION FOUNDATION
1400 Crystal Drive, Suite 600
Arlington, VA 22202

Representatives of the ABA-IPL Section, AIPLA and AIPLEF will select the winners of the 2017 Jan Jancin competition. If you have any questions concerning this honor, please contact the AIPLEF Administrative Office at 703-415-0780. We look forward to receipt of your nomination for the 2017 Jan Jancin Competition.

Jan Jancin Competition

Exemplary Criteria for Nominees for the Award

Any law school having at least one IP course is eligible for participation. The dean or appropriate faculty member of each law school, who has a direct knowledge of the student, will determine which IP student among the men and women in that law school best exemplifies excellence in the field of intellectual property law and thereby qualifies as a candidate for the award. Only ONE nomination from each law school will be accepted. The Dean is to make the determination in whatever reasonable way he/she wishes. Each dean will have the flexibility to use any reasonable criteria, including, by way of example, any of the following:

- Best grades in IP courses overall;
- Outstanding achievement in specified IP courses;
- Best IP paper written by a student;
- Determination by a faculty consensus; or
- Membership and activity in student IP organizations.

Each participating dean or delegated faculty member who has a direct knowledge of the student, nominates a candidate by sending to the Awards Committee: a letter identifying the student candidate along with a brief summary of the student's achievements in IP law, together with a paragraph or two explaining why the student is considered deserving of the award. This letter should be no more than two pages in length. The student must also complete the Jan Jancin Application Summary and submit a one-page essay discussing their personal achievements in the field of IP law to be included in the package submitted by the law school. The (i) nomination letter (ii) application summary and (iii) the one-page written summation of achievements written by the student are essential for selection consideration to receive the award.
